City Makes Ready For Army Day

Plans Complete For Celebration Of Army Day

Indications Of Large Turn-out For Parade And Mass Meeting Monday

PARADE TO END AT CATHEDRAL

Many Units To Take Part In Procession Which Will Start At 6:30 P. M.

All out for Army Day! That's the order of the day in New Castle, Monday, April 6, and it applies to every man, woman and child in the city. The order originated with the President of the United States and came down through the channels of the Council of Defense. And now you have it.

Ready To Go
Locally the men in charge of the Army Day celebration report their forces "present and accounted for" and "ready to go." General Chairman Ivor V. Davis said today that so far as he could see everything was in readiness and Parade Marshal Arthur B. Foster said the only thing that would stop the parade from being a star studded success would be weather not fit for man or beast.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Weather indications today didn't hold a lot of promise for a nice day in this vicinity on Easter. Overhanging clouds with a hint of rain seemed to forecast anything but a sunny day.

MAKE EVERY PAYDAY BOND DAY

Monday is Army Day and is to be especially observed in New Castle. The American flag should be flying everywhere in the city on Monday, as a part of the observance.

Twenty-five years ago, Monday, New Castle was stirred as the nation entered the first World War.

Judging from some of the advertisements for quarters noted in The News of late, this would be an opportune time for starting a boarding house.

New Castle public schools will resume on Monday, after the pupils have enjoyed a week's vacation for the Easter season.

Local draft board No. 2, which moved from the headquarters in the Knitting Mills property, is now located at Room 510 in the Greer building on North Mercer street.

Pre-Easter crowds on the streets of the city and in the store today gave something of a boom town atmosphere in downtown New Castle.

Believe Russian Front Will Be Main Target Of Hitler's Spring Offensive

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Diplomatic and military advisers reaching official quarters in Washington today indicate that Germany is massing four million men for the spring offensive against Soviet Russia and the Near East.

The reports indicate that the Germans already have two million men concentrated along the Russian front from the Arctic to the Black sea. The bulk of these troops are massed along the Central Russian front.

Responsible sources believe that another two million German troops are being moved up toward the Russian front and will be thrown in along the southern sector or partially diverted for a move through the Near East to the oil fields of Iraq and Iran.

Japanese Threat To India May Speed Up Solution Of Problem

By G. D. KARKARE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW DELHI, April 4.—The seriousness of the threat to India through Japanese advances in Burma was injected strongly into discussions by members of the All-India Congress party working committee today as efforts were speeded to achieve a quick solution of the Indian problem.
Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress party, revealed following a two-hour session of the working committee that the group had considered the whole situation regarding the states of Bengal and Assam, bordering Burma, and the consequent near approach of war.

Members of the committee discussed Azad said, what direction the Congress party should give the nation at the present juncture of the war crisis. The group was to meet again for further discussion in the afternoon.

Gandhi Delays Return
Meanwhile Mohandas K. Gandhi, powerful former leader of the party and still a controlling factor in its policies, delayed his return to his home at Wardha to give the committee the benefit of his advice.

The general outlook for settlement of the intricate Indian problem in the meantime improved as it became apparent that a way may be found to satisfy demands for appointment of an Indian defense minister.

Nazi-Held Points In France Are Bombed In Broad Daylight

BLAST NAZI PLANES RETURNING TO PORT

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, April 4.—Pursuing their relentless "non-stop" air offensive against Nazi-occupied territories, planes of the Royal Air Force swept over northern France in broad daylight again today after blasting German-held airbases and railroad yards in a night attack.

British fighter and bomber planes in considerable force crossed the Kent coast in the vicinity of Dungeness in brilliant sunshine heading toward Boulogne. They later were observed returning.

In their third successive night raid against German-held northern France the R. A. F. bombers and fighters, blasted airbases and railway yards, the air ministry said.

Shoot Up Nazi Planes
The British fliers, after unloading most of their bombs on appointed objectives, hovered over Nazi airports to await the return of German planes which again soared across southern England. The R. A. F. fliers attacked and shot up the returning Nazi craft.

A huge explosion blasted a runway directly in front of a German Heinkel when a British flier dropped a stick of bombs as the Nazi craft came in for a landing.

The German planes carried out widespread activity over England during the night but the action was reported light in comparison to the previous night's severe attack on the southeast towns.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Sinking of the Aircraft Tender Langley and two other American naval vessels by the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific today gave the nation additional grim evidence that its sea forces are facing unflinchingly the greatest test in the navy's history.

Loss of the Langley, the Destroyer Peary and the Naval Tanker Pecos, with more than 700 casualties brought to 25 the number of United States warships and auxiliary vessels destroyed since Pearl Harbor and in the months immediately preceding America entering the war.

PROCLAMATION

The President of the United States has asked that every American citizen join in the observance of Army Day on Monday, April 6th.

In this time of total war every American wants to lend himself to any effort designed to promote the successful prosecution of the war and New Castle will do its share. On Monday, April 6, it behooves all of us to join in the observance of the day, both as to the parade and the mass meeting in the Cathedral.

As Mayor of the City of New Castle, I call upon every citizen to join in the observance of Army Day. It is urged that all flags be flown in front of business houses and homes wherever possible and it is also suggested that merchants close their stores at 5 o'clock, where possible, in order that employees may be able to participate in the parade.

CHARLES B. MAYNE,
Mayor of the City of New Castle.

Lawrence county's campaign to collect scrap materials needed for war purposes gets under way tonight when all scrap dealers and brokers of the county will meet on the third floor of City Hall to confer with directors and administrators of the scrap collection. The meeting will be in charge of John C. Sving, county superintendent of schools, who is the director of disposal, and N. F. Vidal, who will direct the actual collection.

Chairmen To Meet
Following the scrap dealers' meeting the local salvage chairman of the townships and boroughs will meet with Mr. Vidal and with County Salvage Administrators John E. Elliott for small industries, Mrs. John Hough for homes, Robert A. Weingartner for business houses, Claire B. Book for schools and E. C. Wiggins for farms.

At this meeting the plan of collection will be outlined and the need for scrap explained. The government needs steel and iron, tin, lead, zinc, bronze, brass, copper and rubber. The need is dire and every pound of scrap collected here will be just that much more mileage on the road to victory.

Bombs Burst In Air With Huge Flames Says Report From Bataan

DAMAGE SLIGHT IN NEW ATTACKS

Two Heavy Jap Bombers Are Shot Down, Two Others Damaged

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4.—New type flame bombs rained today on Corregidor Island in the 12th consecutive day of aerial bombardment, but the fortress fought off the new attack by shooting down two huge Jap aircraft and damaging two others.

On Bataan Peninsula, the American-Philippine forces fought off local Japanese thrusts as the battle of Bataan saw-sawed across the narrow strip of land which the enemy so far has found itself unable to conquer.

The activity was described in a war department communiqué which took pains to explain that the bombs dropped on Corregidor in the latest raid were different from those used previously.

Burst In Air
"They burst in the air with huge flames, some of them exploding high above the island," the communiqué said.

"No damage resulted from these attacks. Our anti-aircraft artillery shot down two heavy Japanese bombers and probably damaged two others."

Meanwhile, a heavy enemy artillery barrage was laid down against (Continued On Page Two)

Hospital Hit In Bombing Of Mandalay

Heavy Attack Made On City

Military Damage Is Reported As Not Heavy In Burma Communique

OTHER TOWNS IN BURMA BOMBED

(BULLETIN)

NEW DELHI, April 4.—Japanese planes set fire to a hospital during a heavy bombing of Mandalay, a communique of the Burma command said today.

The attack on the city, which the Chinese had declared they would hold at all costs, resulted in no military damage, however.

It was announced that the withdrawal of British Imperial forces covering the evacuation of Prome in Western Burma "proceeded satisfactorily" yesterday.

"The enemy followed up hard but was successfully dealt with," the communique said.

"During the withdrawal our troops were subjected to severe air attack causing some casualties."

"Mandalay was bombed heavily yesterday morning. No military damage was caused, though a hospital caught fire and the patients had to be moved to safety."

"Two other towns in Central Burma were bombed yesterday. Damage was slight."

Mandalay, a city of 100,000 population, is a strategic communications center connecting with Chinese headquarters at Chungking.

BELIEVE RUSSIAN FRONT WILL BE MAIN TARGET OF HITLER

version drive against the British in Egypt.

However, well informed sources here believe the main objective of the German spring offensive will again be Soviet Russia.

It is thought that this major drive will be aimed at annihilation of the Russian armies rather than any spectacular attempt to push through hurriedly to Moscow or the Caucasus.

The view prevails that German occupation of Moscow or the Caucasian oil fields will prove of little practical help to the Nazis unless the Russian armies are destroyed.

Main Object

Destruction of those armies, it is felt, must be the main objective of Hitler. Therefore, the possibility is seen that the German spring offensive may unfold gradually within the next few weeks, but not necessarily on as spectacular a scale as when Hitler invaded Russia last year.

If destruction of the Russian armies again proves too difficult a task for the Nazis and the other Axis drives in the Near East and Africa disclose a weakness in the British positions, it is thought Hitler may attempt to resort to defensive warfare on the Russian front and swing his main efforts over to the Middle East.

Main Theatre

However, present reports concerning the massing of German troops indicate the Russian front will be the main theatre of operations in the spring campaign.

The diplomatic reports also indicate that Germany is massing a considerable number of planes along the Northern Russian front. And it is considered possible that Hitler is planning a separate drive against Leningrad and the Archangel-Moscow railway in order to cut off the vital American supply line along that latter route.

A Japanese attack against Russia timed to coincide with the German offensive is seen as possible, although American officials are inclined to view it as unlikely.

It is thought more probable that Japan will wait to see how the German offensive develops, meanwhile concentrating on its own drive against India and consolidating its position in the Southwest Pacific.

NEW TYPE FLAME BOMBS DROPPED ON CORREGIDOR

the defensive lines on Bataan over a period of three hours.

"From the intensity of the fire, it was assumed that it was preliminary to a ground attack," the official account said.

"However, no attack developed. Indications are that the enemy has moved some medium artillery from the Cavite shore to Bataan."

Movement of the artillery units which previously were used to shell Corregidor and other Manila Bay forts indicated that the Japanese intended to press on with their renewed offensive against Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces which began nearly two weeks ago.

Total 34 Jap Planes Down

In the Corregidor attack, the latest bombers shot down brought to a total of 34 the number of enemy aircraft destroyed by the fort's anti-aircraft guns since the war began.

As the 17th week of the Pacific conflict drew to a close, there was little indication that Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces were yet weakening under the renewed Japanese aerial, artillery and land offensive which was launched nearly two weeks ago.

Persistence of Japanese pressure despite rebuffs and reverses, however, was interpreted by military sources as strong evidence that the enemy intends to continue the latest offensive in the hope of wearing down the American-Philippine forces.

Virtually no gains have been made by Gen. Toyokuni Yamashita's numerically superior forces in recent battles, and reports from the front have stressed the fact that the enemy's losses have been severe.

Stopped By Bayonets

Following the heavy attacks several days ago, which were stopped by bayonet wielding defending troops, the Nipponese have continued to harass Wainwright's lines while Jap planes returned by day and night to bomb the Manila Bay forts and installations on Bataan.

In its night communique, the war department reported several light attacks at various points along the front line, with the same results that have marked the entire battle of the Philippines.

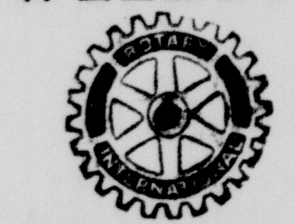

"All these assaults were repelled by our troops, with considerable enemy losses," the communique said. "Bombing of our front lines by the Japanese continued."

The only other action reported in the Philippines was the good Friday bombing by Japanese of a church at Miral, near Digos, on the island of Mindanao.

While the war department failed to comment on the bombing, it was believed to be in reprisal for the recent raid in that area in which a small body of Wainwright's troops burned to the ground 22 Nipponese warehouses filled with food and military supplies.

Raid by native troops serving under Wainwright have been increasing on Mindanao during the past few weeks, proving that the enemy has failed to gain control of the strategic southern island.

NAVY REVEALS SHIPS ARE SUNK

members of the Langley crew, but through a quirk of fate and the uncertain fortunes of war the men lost their lives during the fateful attack on the Pecos after their first ordeal.

"Official reports from Tokyo claimed the sinking of the Langley at least three times during the first month of the war," the communique said, "during which time the Langley was not damaged. She was sunk after a prolonged attack by the enemy south of Java in late February."

"Except for about a dozen men, all Langley personnel survived the attack and were transferred to the Pecos which itself was sunk a few days later."

Sinking Aided By U. S.

Actually, the Langley was not sunk entirely by enemy action. Commander Robert B. McConnell, skipper of the once-proud American warship, stated in San Francisco that "escort destroyers hastened the sinking of the Langley so that our material would not fall into the hands of the enemy."

The Peary, a World War I destroyer, suffered minor damage during a bombing attack on Cavite in the early days of the war in the Philippines, and was sunk finally in harbor at Darwin, Australia, after participating "in many of the offensive actions of our destroyers in the Far East."

"Observers who witnessed the last engagement of the Peary described the conduct of her crew as beyond all praise," the communique said. "Gun crews remained at their battle stations continuing the fire until they were forced by rising water to leave their stations. No officer or man left the ship until it sank under him. A number of survivors were later rescued."

During Java Battle

The Langley and Pecos actually were destroyed during the final phase of the battle of Java, in which the United Nations lost more than a dozen ships, including the American Cruiser Houston and the Destroyer Pope.

Among survivors were the Langley's skipper, Commander Robert B. McConnell, of San Diego, Calif., and Commander Elmer P. Abernathy, of the Pecos, whose home is in Los Angeles.

Lieut. Commander John M. Birmingham, of New York City, commander of the Peary, was lost, the navy said.

Emphasizing communications problems in the widespread Pacific conflict, the navy pointed out that "war conditions in the Southwest Pacific have greatly complicated and delayed reports of casualties, and the public is urged to refrain from initiating individual inquiries regarding casualties." Officials explained that the next of kin of casualties are always notified by telegram "as soon as possible."

SOVIET REPULSES COUNTER ATTACK BY NAZI TROOPS

six tanks were disabled and 30 enemy trucks put out of action, the high command reported.

Germans Dislodged

On another sector of the Kalinin front, it was said, the Germans were dislodged from a number of fortified points. A number of tanks and guns were destroyed and a Nazi ammunition dump blown up.

As the Russians continued their pressure around Kalinin, Leningrad and Smolensk, the Tass (official Soviet) news agency said that "several million" skilled fighters, called up under the new universal service act, are now available as reserves to meet the expected German spring offensive.

The Russians, admitting that the Nazi opposition has been strengthened, announced that a total of 25,000 Germans had been killed on various sectors since March 31.

Guerrilla Forces Active

Guerrilla forces on the Smolensk front were reported to have annihilated 500 Germans in the past few days while on one sector of the northwestern front over 450 Nazis were said to have been killed in one day. On another sector in the vicinity of Kalinin 160 Germans were wiped out when Russian troops recaptured a village.

New offensive battles along the wide front resulted in occupation of "several localities" on April 2, the midnight Red army communique said. During the day 26 German planes were reported destroyed while the Russians were said to have lost six.

A supplement to the regular communique which reported "no substantial changes," said:

"Infantry men on the western front dislodged the enemy from a village last night, annihilating 300. On another sector the Soviets captured a village after fierce street fighting."

"On one sector of the southwestern front concentrated fire dispersed a German infantry attack and 200 were wiped out."

PROBLEMS OF THE ONLY CHILD

It is amazing how many parents of average or better-than-average income have but a single child. As I go about the nation meeting groups of young parents who are trying hard to be wise and efficient parents, I am struck with the large proportion of them with only children. Yet they are the very ones who could afford to have several children.

Some only children grow up to be unselfish, happy and likable. Also some parents of only children seem to have grown well adjusted to each other, to the child and the world at large. Nevertheless, all else being equal, neither the only child nor his parents gain so much in character and personality as they might have gained had there been more children.

Compensations Possible

There may be compensations. The only child may have more opportunities for higher education. His parents may have fewer financial worries and more opportunities for wider social contacts and civic activities. They might be able to curb selfishness in the only child by being more exacting of themselves so as not to supply nearly all his wants and by training him also in self-sacrifice and responsibility.

Yet the normal setting with the only child is against their doing so. The parents of the only child are tempted, naturally, to encourage their own interests too closely about him. Moreover, having to adjust themselves to this one child limits their adaptations and frees them from the need of making self-denials. On the other hand, parents of several children have to distribute their attention among many and in doing so widen and enrich their personality, education and character.

It seems to me that young married couples might well consider the personality and character values to themselves and their progeny in a family of more than one child.

Problems of Only Child

Dear Dr. Myers:—A while ago there appeared in your column a letter from a mother who wanted your advice about limiting her family to one as she did not feel she could give sufficient advantages to more. Take it from an only child, there are no advantages equal to those that come from being one of a large family.

By having brothers and sisters one learns what one author calls strategy in handling people, a decided qualification for success.

"If I had my life to live over and could choose, I would rather be one out of a dozen children, though poverty compelled me to go barefoot, than to accept once more the disadvantages of an only child."

I wonder if many only children when grown-up feel as this writer does.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My four-year-old daughter has dinner at 5:15 and goes to bed at 7:30. Lately she has the habit of calling after I leave her, to ask for bread and butter.

A. As she gets ready for bed offer her milk or any other food you think proper. Tell her that after you leave, you are not coming back. Then keep your word. Be sure she has learned by day to respect authority so she would not venture to get up for the bread and butter herself.

Q. When a youngster, say of ten, interrupts a parent to correct an error in this parent's account of some incident the child also had observed, is he merely rude?

A. While he seems to be rude, he rarely means to be. Rather, he Joe Lash is going into the army and let's hope that's the last we hear of that.

Lash was a product of the depression school of thought which was all for turning over the country to the freshmen class of ingebrow high to operate.

The elders were accused of selling youth short, down the river, and just selling youth.

It became indecent to plead grey hairs as a defense for knowledge.

But Lash and the campus kids had their birthdays too and pretty soon the youths and the elders were all mixed up together and now nobody cares.

Youth and age are both pinching now but it is significant that no kids have been added to the cabinet recently.

And that the MacArthur and the Ernie Kings have been out of rompers for a long time.

But good luck Private Lash anyway. Get yourself a chestful of medals and don't take any wooden ideas.

Bible Thought For Today

So we should not wash our hands of people who make one mistake and get off the road. We should try to lead them back we should treat them kindly: If a man have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, I doth not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?—Matt. 18:13

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:27. Sun rises tomorrow 6:40.

Tomorrow is Easter Sunday! Happy Easter!

Why do we celebrate Easter Sunday? Some will be surprised when they learn why. We mean those who try to eat all the eggs they can hold.

The car owner pulled up at the roadside stand and inquired of the cooking person in charge: "Well, what do you have to eat here?" "I don't have to eat here. I work here," came the reply.

The sweet young thing asked me if I could tell her how to play golf. "Sure, it's easy enough," I told her. "All you do is smack the pill and then walk."

"How interesting," she replied. "Just like some auto rides I've been on."

There are people who would like to see a forty-hour day. They are interested in saving our country.

Of all the sad surprises there's nothing to compare with the trading, in the darkness, on a step that wasn't there.

Only a dictator can tell workmen to work harder and receive applause for his well chosen words.

HE KNEW

The minister had been impressing upon the children at the Sunday school classes the real necessity for being good and obedient at all times.

At the conclusion of his address he asked: "Now, children, can any of you tell me what kind of boys and girls go to heaven?"

One little fellow eager to outshine the others, shouted: "Yes, sir, dead 'uns!"

Indians armed and trained to fight Japan would never again submit to British rule, but England had better lose India than lose the war and India, too.

There is some good in everybody. The trouble comes from having to dig through prejudices to find it.

I keep away from the kitchen, for I don't like to be in hot water, in the soup, in the stew, in a mess, in a mixup, in a pinch, in a jam, in a pickle, in a can or cooler, but I wouldn't mind being in the dough.

In some cases it's better for some candidates for public office not to be too well known.

REAL HAZARDS

A couple were blessed with a child their first year of marriage. They did not, however, get to the hospital quick enough and the baby was born on the lawn in front of the hospital.

The itemized bill was finally received.

The war has called our men folks. Their places must be filled. Factories and foundries kept going. And the land must be tilled.

So the brave women of America have donned their coveralls. And you will find them working wherever duty calls.

With saw and plane and rivets. They are busy every day. So proud to take the places Of the men who are away.

The farm wife on the prairie Has learned to handle a plow. While the matron in the city Can drive a taxi—and how!

The brave women of America, Have no time for tears. Eager and willing to do their part As did our pioneers.

The young woman in her uniform With fingers quick and nimble. Shop girls, teachers, engineers. The seamstress with her thimble.

And Grandma—Heaven bless her— At home she may be sitting. But there is a sparkle in her eye. And boy how she is knitting!

God bless the women at work Wherever they may be. And three cheers for America. The land of Victory.

A cowboy was riding the range when he came across a settler's cabin. There was quite a number of horses and buggies outside, so he stopped to see what the excitement was about.

"They're giving the bride-to-be a shower," someone answered.

The cowboy quickly dismounted and explored his saddle bags.

"Let me in, then," he cried. "I've got some soap."

War Council Takes Germany Into Account
Pacific Council To Consider Whole War
President Roosevelt Is Leader Of Group

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Although the United Nations' newly organized war council, with its headquarters in Washington, is referred to specifically as a "Pacific war council," its real function is to shape the democracies' policies relative to the entire war.

While President Roosevelt, due to the multiplicity of his other duties, doubtless will have to be represented on it more or less by deputy, of course he will be the final voice in this country's spokesmanship, and actual head of the whole outfit. British Ambassador Lord Halifax will be the United Kingdom's delegate for the present. It is likely that a more virile personality will be chosen to succeed him soon. Leighton McCarthy, an Ottawa cabinet member and minister here, will speak for Canada. Australian Foreign Minister H. Vere Evatt will be its commonwealth's representative. New Zealand's will be Minister Walter Nash. Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong will be a member, occasionally relieved by Ambassador Hu Shih. Minister A. Landon will be on the job for the exiled Dutch government.

This alignment may seem, at first glance, to have been effected predominantly for a concentration of democracies' energies against Japan. What a job it is calculated to be against Hitler is apparent in a minute, though.

Adolf, all strategists agree, is desperately anxious for a Jap thrust against Russia, through Siberia. Now that it's spring, the time has come for him to knock the Soviet folk out in short order along their western front. Their weather has helped them enormously with their fighting during the winter months. This is the season for the Fuehrer to dispose of them conclusively, if he's to succeed in doing it at all. Obviously his chance of accomplishing it would be enormously increased, provided he can get them formidably attacked from the direction opposite to his own.

Warm Weather Soon

It's urgent for him, too. The Russians themselves evidently are a bit apprehensive of warm weather, and have been clamoring for a big continental landing from the British Islands, by Boston, and also American, if available, with a whole of an attack on the Nazis from the westward.

In that event, Adolf would be the chap caught between two fires, so he is frantic to have the Japs get into action first.

That the Mikado would like to gobble up Siberia nobody doubts, and would be an ideal area for Nippon's overflowing population to expand into. Furthermore, its northern peninsula, Kamchatka,

SAN DIEGO—Maj. Gen. John L. Marston reports troops in Iceland are ready. "In Iceland they are acting as though they expect an invasion any minute, and they are prepared to give a good account of themselves."

MINNEAPOLIS—Dr. Morris Fishbein, noted medical official declares the war is a race for food: "The nation which best feeds its people and its soldiers has the best opportunity of coming through a war of long duration."

WASHINGTON—Senator Clyde Herring of Iowa urges expansion of synthetic tire production. "It would build morale. The whole business of the nation is built on rubber, and we can and should provide tires."

A hostess should always furnish a meat fork to be placed on the plate of meat when guests are invited to help themselves. If such a fork is not on hand, the guest should use his own fork, but be sure to take the first piece of meat in which he inserts his fork.

Confused Patriots

Washington, April 4. THE rather hysterical persons who are so greatly disturbed about the widespread popular dissatisfaction with what is going on in Washington are making a great mistake. Instead of advocating forceful suppression of all who criticize or dissent, they ought to want them encouraged. Instead of feeling that resentment over certain Administration trends indicates a lack of national unity, they ought to realize that the reverse is true. Instead of assuming that the only loyal Americans are those who acquiesce in every Administration act, they ought to know that no more deactivating and unwholesome thing could happen to us than unanimous acquiescence.

The trouble with these gentlemen is that they are out of focus. They do not think clearly and they lack understanding. For example, at a recent large dinner here a former journalist, now connected with the Administration, vehemently inveighed against any discussion of matters such as the early OGD absurdities, urging that action against those who made them public be taken, winding up by excitedly demanding "What are we waiting for?" A calm speaker pointed out that incidents such as these, while trivial in themselves, are symbols of a maladministration impossible to reconcile with the efficient conduct of the war. For the newspapers not to point these things out would be an inexcusable contribution to national weakness. For the public not to resent them would indicate a lack of popular concern about the winning of the war more appalling than almost any other thing that could happen to us.

THE truth is that, since the war began, no more helpful and healthful things have happened in the United States than the general irritability.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THEY SOMETIMES DO

There is a traditional tie between the Army and the Navy. The personnel of each of these divisions of our national defenders are zealous and tough as to their respective fighting ability and hence, when East meets West, or it happens that their paths cross when on leave, it is usually possible, if not probable, that a fight is just around the corner, if not closer.

Recently two soldiers and two sailors, who had been arrested and placed in the city jail house, charged with fighting and disturbing the peace, were bidding farewell to their jailer on a beautiful sunny morning after a night in retirement. All four of them were pleasant looking young Americans, except for a few minor disfigurements.

After a night in the bastille their pride and glory had been somewhat deflated, and each of them were ready to discuss peace terms with open minds. Sailors, for some reason, always consider themselves more sophisticated and worldly wise than a mere common rookie just in from the sticks. But the young soldier is usually equipped with a bit of an

"He's the mender of broken guitars. He's the gauchito who fixes guitars. From ranchito to ranchito. Goes hard-working Pancho. To mend broken hearts and guitars."

Beautiful, isn't it? And who wrote these exquisite lyrics? Tony Galento, prizefighter, saloon keeper, beer-barrel-chested tough guy.

He wrote it with the help of one of his waiters and is now trying to find a publisher for what he thinks is going to be a national hit song.

Tony resents the idea that he is a roughneck.

The heart of a poet and songster beats under many a hairy chest, including his own, he claims.

Many a knock-out punch is delivered by the fist that loves to strum the liting guitar.

It's the suave, polished, soft-tongued gent that's really the bum at heart, says Tony.

Brightly polished fingernails are often the earmarks of a heel.

And if his anatomy is a little bit mixed—maybe Tony is right, after all.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 4.—Should Auditor General F. Clair Ross win the Democratic nomination for governor, political circles expect David L. Lawrence once again to take over the party helm as state chairman. A victory for Judge Ralph H. Smith of Pittsburgh, who is being backed by Senator Joseph F. Guffy, would put a decided crimp in Lawrence's political future. Should either Ross or Smith win, Meredith Meyers, present state chairman, would probably be succeeded by someone else in view of the fact that Meyers is backing Luther A. Hart of Philadelphia, former Philadelphia city treasurer. A Hart victory would mean a continuation of the present state chairmanship.

Guffy and Lawrence each hold one victory apiece on the political front of the past four years. The statewide ticket Guffy supported in 1938 was defeated, Thomas Kennedy, the Guffy-CIO candidate for governor, losing by some 67,000 votes. It was a short-lived victory for Lawrence, however, because the Republicans walked away with the fall election. In 1940 Guffy soundly trounced Walter A. Jones, Lawrence-supported candidate for U. S. senator, in his campaign for re-election, winning by approximately 100,000 votes. After that, Lawrence relinquished the post as state chairman and was succeeded by Meyers.

Will Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines announce his support soon of the candidacy of Senator James J. Davis for the Republican nomination for governor? The rumor that he will be persistent on Capitol Hill and in political quarters. Should he do so it would probably bring him into conflict with Governor James, who is expected to throw his support soon behind the candidacy of Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, who is backed by the state organization.

Hines supported Davis for senator in 1938 when he was opposed by Gov. George H. Earle. Hines, then an A. F. of L. organizer, was defeated by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to form a labor committee for James and Davis. Earle won the support of the state federation of labor (A. F. of L.) as well as the C.I.O.

Governor James' nomination of James F. Torrance for secretary of property and supplies is another indication that a new Republican state chairman will take over organizational activities before very long. Whether Torrance will resign as state chairman as soon as he takes over his state job or wait until June is not known. The winner of the primary gubernatorial fight usually is given the opportunity to name the new chairman. Should Martin win, State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor of Harrisburg, his campaign manager, may again take over the post he held from 1928-34.

Both parties will require new floor leaders when the legislature reconvenes in regular session in January, 1943. House Majority Leader Leo A. Achteman and Minority Leader Ellwood J. Turner are both running for statewide office and therefore cannot seek reelection to the House.

OLD KNITTING MILL BUILDING IS PURCHASED

bought the knitting mill annex in 1936. The company took possession of the 50 by 150 foot building on April 1. The Bordonaro & Canfora company, owned and operated by Joseph Bordonaro Sr., Joseph Bordonaro Jr., and Alec Canfora, all of this city, started in business at 806 South Mill street in 1928.

Steady progress caused the men to purchase the knitting building annex, 323 South Mill street, in 1936. With the organization constantly expanding, the men deemed it wise to buy the additional site to erect the railroad siding and possibly to enlarge its plant in the future.

The News learned today that the emergency relief board will move its headquarters to the Wallace building on Croton avenue by the first of May.

The selective service board No. 2 of New Castle, located in the building, has already moved to room 510 Greer building.

GUN DUEL MAY ADD THIRD TO TOLL OF DEATH

wealthy Mrs. Amy Bicknell of Englewood, N. J., succumbed to her injuries, a head wound, late yesterday. With both men attired in their army uniforms, the duel occurred two nights ago at the Wenstrom home. Major Wenstrom fought with a 38 revolver, two cartridges of which misfired and probably cost him his life. Major Hammett used an army Colt 45.

The fierce clash was the outgrowth of a bitter dispute over how the local branch of the Home Guard, which both men had helped to organize, should be run. A letter to a newspaper in which Major Wenstrom angrily criticized Major Hammett's policies brought the feud to a fatal climax.

All of the victims of the tragedy were socially prominent. Major Hammett often was referred to as Santa Barbara's most prominent citizen.

Recovering consciousness yesterday, Hammett said that he fired in self-defense, only after Major Wenstrom had fired first. Neighbors told police that the report of Major Wenstrom's lighter calibre weapon was the first to be heard, but investigators noted that Major Hammett went to the Wenstrom home armed with two 45's and a claw hammer.

Model Planes Are Important In War Effort

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore. — Model airplanes, until recently considered chiefly children's playthings, have assumed a place of importance in the war effort in Oregon.

Rex Putnam, state superintendent of schools, has asked that 4,000 scale model airplanes be built by the state's youth as part of a nationwide program to assemble thousands of tiny craft for practice in aircraft recognition and gunnery sighting.

In Portland, high schools and civic club will sponsor the program and principals have agreed that students will furnish their own wood, principals the paint and the school system glue and nails. The craft must be perfect reproductions of both American and enemy planes, and only models approved by the federal office of Education or the bureau of aeronautics will be acceptable. Each model will be inspected by a board before acceptance.

Ten Enemy Planes Reported Downed

DARWIN, April 4.—War birds of the United Nations destroyed ten enemy planes yesterday, with two more probable, it was officially announced today.

The raid, led by Major General Brereton, was carried out Thursday, the communique said.

The attacking American planes encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire from guns set up by the Japanese after the British abandoned the islands as untenable.

Only one Japanese fighter attempted to intercept the American craft, all of which returned safely to their base.

Campaign To Close Sunday

Eight Weeks United Effort
In Churches And Sunday
Schools To Conclude

Tomorrow—Easter Sunday, April 5—the "All Out Defense Increase Campaign" will close, and this eight weeks of united effort to stimulate an increase in evangelism, Sunday School Association, church attendance and Bible study sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will register a successful ending.

Easter will undoubtedly climax the attendance records to date, and the number of points gained by the participating Sunday schools on this closing day, will largely determine the winners, although some Sunday schools have such large leads that they can hardly be overtaken by a last Sunday spurt.

The spirit and cooperation of the participating Sunday schools throughout has been fine, and it is hoped that the benefits received will continue after the campaign ends. While the weather has not been altogether favorable, most of the participating Sunday schools have gained points, and perhaps all will be in the "points gained" column after tomorrow's attendance figures are published.

The church attendance has also been very encouraging, and a number have very high percentages in this respect. Evangelistic effort has also been pretty generally stressed by the Sunday schools and churches, and the Bible study goals will continue with the leadership training school which starts next Tuesday, which presents a New Testament course.

On the whole, there has been "everything to gain and nothing to lose" by participating in this increase campaign, and the slogan "Every church member in Sunday school and every Sunday school member in church" is a good one to keep in mind throughout the whole year.

New Testament Course To Start

A New Testament course on the Four Gospels with Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president and Rev. John Orr, professor of Bible, of Westminster college, will start at 7:45 next Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church, New Castle, and there will be four other sessions on the following Tuesdays and Thursdays. This is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, for S. S. teachers, leaders and members.

Tuesday's session starts with registration at 7:45 a devotional period at 8 o'clock with Dr. G. S. Bennett as leader and the lecture by Dr. Galbreath starts at 8:15.

The remaining four sessions, Thursday, April 7; Tuesday, April 14; Thursday, April 16, and Tuesday, April 21, will have the same outlined program as above, with Rev. John Orr giving a lecture on each of the four gospels in order. There will be a different devotional leader for each session, and Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of the First Baptist church, will lead the song service.

Ministerial Group Will Meet Monday

Regular meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association will be held in the First Presbyterian church Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The discussion will be continued under the direction of Dr. A. F. McGarrh regarding a city wide campaign. Each minister is being asked to attend as such a campaign would affect his particular church.

A. Give him an alarm clock and let him call himself up with it. If he sleeps on, do not bother. Let him go late to school. Then write the truth in the excuse for his absence and let him take the consequences. It might be well to advise the school beforehand of your plan.

Fifteen Canadian Sailors Missing

Small Canadian Merchant Vessel Is Bombed In Caribbean Sea By Enemy

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 4.—Fifteen crew members of a small Canadian merchant vessel, sunk on the night of February 22 by an Axis U-boat in the Caribbean were missing today, following a thrilling rescue of two Canadians and two other seamen by a U. S. Navy patrol bomber.

Peter Soroko, 22, and James Stillwell, 20, both Canadians detailed in New York how they drifted on heavy planks for 12 hours before they sighted the bomber. Two other crewmen, a Brazilian and a Finn, were also picked up and taken to Trinidad.

Soroko told how the torpedo blew up part of the merchantman's bow and hurled him into the water. The next morning, the four sighted the plane and Soroko tore off his shirt and waved it. The American naval aviator soon landed his plane in a rough sea and took them aboard, risking the chance of overloading his plane.

Soroko reported the bomber shattered one of its pontoons and had difficulty taking off.

"When I get back home," said Soroko, "I'm going to write the navy in Washington and tell them what a grand fellow that pilot was."

BIRTH AT CAMP
(International News Service)
CAMP CALLAN, Calif.—Several thousand army men recently were discussing the first birth in the history of Camp Callan.

The baby's mother was being rushed by her husband's parents to the San Diego Naval hospital when the stork caught up with the party. The mother was detained at Camp Callan's Infirmary A, where the baby was born — and where the Army Medical Corps had a rather different procedure to follow from the usual army routine.

"Labor" means ordinary Americans. They are not disloyal. Jail labor politicians who stop war work and the workers will do their part.

The stupid think they have "guts" because they feel safe, but it isn't courage that makes a child indifferent to a rattlesnake.

(International News Service)
TEANECK, N. J., April 4.—Raymond Lufkin, 16, of Tenafly, N. J., was in serious condition today from a bullet fired by an army sentry, after an automobile he was riding in allegedly failed to halt on the sentry's order.

Dermot F. Holden, 62, of Tenafly, driver of the car, who had a son killed at Pearl Harbor, declared he had heard no command to stop and that the shooting occurred on a road that was not blocked off. The sentry's bullet went through the license plate and the body of the car to lodge in young Lufkin's back.

The army version of the shooting, made by Capt. C. Menely, was that the sentry whose name was not revealed, challenged the car as it entered a private driveway in the rear of the Teaneck Armory.

"He stood in the headlight beam and challenged three times," the army statement said. "But the car failed to stop. After it passed, he fired a shot at the rear of the car. One of the occupants was struck by the bullet. The injured party was immediately taken to Holy Name hospital. An army surgeon went to the hospital to render assistance and troops volunteered blood donations and were sent to the hospital. A full investigation will be made."

Prosecutor John J. Breslin, Jr., of Bergen County, concluded from an investigation that the shooting was accidental.

HUGE GAS TAXES
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa.—Pennsylvania motorists have paid more than $800,000,000 in gasoline taxes to the state and federal governments since 1921, according to the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania. During 1941, Pennsylvania paid the Commonwealth more than $7,000,000 which was indicative, the association said, "of increased ownership and use of motor vehicles travelling over the excellent system of highways which has been constructed and maintained with motor tax revenues."

Chlorine will be scarce and this will give book paper a yellowish cast. Newsprint will not be affected.

CAMDEN, N. J., April 4.—Completed months ahead of schedule, the U. S. S. Denver, a mighty cruiser of the Cleveland class, will coast into the Delaware river late this afternoon from her ways at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation's yard in Camden.

A minimum of pomp, due to wartime restrictions and speedups, will attend the launching, which will be viewed by only a group of ranking naval officers and the official party from Denver, the city in whose honor the warship was named.

Miss Lois Jane Stapleton, daughter of Mayor Ben F. Stapleton, of Denver, will christen the cruiser. She will be escorted to the yard by her parents and her brother, Ensign Ben F. Stapleton, Jr.

The trim cruiser, one of the fastest ever launched, is the fourth completed of the Cleveland class, which comprise more than 30 ships. The Montpelier slipped into the Delaware last February 12 at the Camden shipyard, where the Columbia and the Cleveland were also built.

Police Hunting Slayer Of Sailor
(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., April 4.—With the navy and the F. B. I. also participating in the search, police today questioned and released a dozen persons in connection with the mysterious slaying of Lloyd Wilkinson, 22, of Northeast, a navy petty officer, early yesterday.

No clues other than fingerprints on the car have been found, police said. The manhunt for the middle-aged killer, meanwhile, spread over a five-state area.

Wilkinson's fiancée, Ruby Eastman, 18, said she and the young petty officer, who had been home on a brief furlough, were sitting in his car near her uncle's home when the slayer approached. She was forced out, and a few minutes later, heard four shots and the sounds of a scuffle, she said.

Funeral services for the young sailor will be held Monday afternoon at Northeast.

Yet there would be little opposition if Roosevelt worked as hard to win support as he does before an election.

There were about 3,600,000 electric clocks in the U. S. in 1930 as compared with 1,400,000 sold or ordered during 1940.

First rule for modern beauty is: Budget your time to include daily Baths

Recently a famous beauty authority was asked to name the basis of personal charm. She replied: "Daily baths."

Her reasons: "Cleanliness — which necessitates the daily bath — is the first rule of beauty. It's the least expensive beauty rule to follow and the quickest dividend producer."

But you don't obtain lasting benefits from just one bath. Or from occasional baths. Had your beauty bath yet today?

► Daily baths make you feel better — and others notice it, admirably!

ACCIDENT RATE DROPS

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia.—A sharp reduction in traffic accidents, fatalities and persons injured on Iowa highways in January today was attributed by Patrol Chief C. A. Kness to the state's campaign to reduce speed on the highways. The monthly report of the Motor Vehicle Department showed that 31 persons were killed in 2054 auto accidents in January, 1942, while 39 Iowans met death in 2118 accidents in the same month last year.

Cabs were introduced in London about 1823. The word is a contraction of cabriolet, so called because of its lightness in comparison with the cumbersome vehicle then in use.

Seek To Take Care Of Housing
Problem In City

ELLWOOD CITY, April 4.—The Chamber of Commerce is trying to make arrangements whereby Ellwood City will be able to work out its own plan on taking care of the acute housing situation here in Ellwood City. Ground work has already been started on a plan whereby local institutions would figure in the construction of a great many individual rental homes and some that will be saleable.

Modern apartments in good sections of the community are also under consideration in a survey that is almost completed. Ellwood City has long been in need of good food and fire room apartments and now would be the opportune time to construct some twenty-five of the four unit type.

The National Housing Administration has made no recommendation as yet for Ellwood City and with the housing need becoming more critical every day it looks as though Ellwood City will again have to do things in their own civic way. Should arrangements be completed with local institutions tenants will be assured of individual homes with basements and garages.

Local citizens wishing to turn their large homes here into a duplex can obtain the highest building priority there is Chamber Secretary R. J. Schill stated today.

News Briefs From City Hall

City Engineer Glenn R. Throop today issued a note of warning to local property-owners. "Do not let a contract for repairs, remodeling or any construction unless you first apply to the city engineer's office," he advised. "Some people are being urged because of a reported housing shortage to convert single dwelling into duplex houses," he added. "Zoning laws govern such. These govern construction and through investigation at city hall a property-owner can learn exactly what he can and cannot do under existing city legislation," he concluded.

HARRISBURG, April 4.—A total of 559 candidates today were disclosed to have paid out $25 apiece to the state in order to run for state assemblyman, while another 64 parted with an equal amount to seek a seat in the State Senate.

Before they can be elected most of the candidates must defeat opponents in both the May 19 primary election and the November 3 general election. In all, 208 assemblymen and 25 senators will be elected this year. The posts pay $3,000 a biennium, with assemblymen elected for two years and senators for four years.

The majority of those seeking election to the House were Republicans, 300 compared with 259 seeking a place on the Democratic ticket, while in the Senate race 37 Republicans and 27 Democrats were entered. Only three senators and 29 assemblymen are not seeking reelection, but many of these have already been elected or are seeking higher posts.

JAP GIRLS' HERO—IS MacARTHUR!

After putting in order their quarters in the first Japanese alien and citizen evacuee colony at Manzanar, Cal. Misses Gene Hashimoto and Rosemary Anzai took up a picture of Gen. Douglas MacArthur on the wall of their dormitory.

Some Good News On Production Front

(International News Service)
NEW RECORD—The first all-welded medium tank ever built, for the nation's armed forces was completed by the Fisher Body corporation in 47 days—a new speed record for tanks.

ANOTHER MARK—It took exactly 45 working days to complete a 700-foot pier and shipyard at an unidentified eastern port. That's 23 days faster than the best previous record.

TANK FLEET—The city of Schenectady, N. Y., may raise funds for a fleet of tanks for General Douglas MacArthur instead of the single 25-tonner it set out to buy. At the half-way mark in a drive to sell $50,000 in defense bonds, $105,485 has been contributed.

RUBBER SAVING—To save tires and conserve rubber supplies, the baking industry has proposed to the War Production Board voluntary curtailment of Sunday and special deliveries.

40-HOUR WEEK—The military government of Hawaii has frozen wages on all the island's war projects and established a 48-hour week for war workers.

DEFENSE BONDS—Sergeant Owen P. Chulacat believes in paying for the war as well as fighting in it. He walked into his battery orderly room at Fort Sill, Okla., and planked down his life's savings—$2,000—for defense bonds.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police Chief W. G. McMullan has banned the use of streets for garage purposes. Very few motorists have had to telephone police and notify headquarters of a change in tires. The dog-catcher is kept as busy as a paper-hanger with one-arm because of the stray dog nuisance.

Walter Tewell, policeman, is scheduled to join the Marines next week. Because of the proposed demolition of the city's street department building the city will be required to construct a new building. No doubt the building will be used for centralization of equipment and the Croton avenue toolhouse will be disposed of to business interests.

City Hall circles believe that there will be a big increase in bus riding here before long. Right now patronage has shown a nice increase. Storage of autos is one contributing factor and probable increased employment will bring more riders.

This clean up week. To burn debris or rubbish a permit must be secured at a fire station. It is contrary to law to start a fire without possessing a permit.

Two-Alarm Blaze In San Francisco

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—A two-alarm fire broke out early today in the magnesium processing plant of the National Metals Company in San Francisco, which is engaged in war work.

Three men working in the mill room, in which powdered magnesium is handled, fled to safety as flames roared through the building. Army guards were immediately posted at the premises.

Although the mill room is in a concrete-walled building, it was believed stores of kerosene and other inflammables were endangered by the fire, origin of which was not immediately determined.
